

A train car moves along a long straight track. The graph shows the position as a function of time.

The graph shows that the train:

1. speeds up all the time.
2. slows down all the time.
3. speeds up part of the time and slows down part of the time.
4. moves at a constant velocity.

